WHAT MY CLIENTS GET

"A coach is someone who tells you what you don't want to hear, who has you see what you don't want to see, so you can be who you have always known you could be."

- Tom Landry

"COACHING IS
UNLOCKING A PERSON'S POTENTIAL TO MAXIMIZE
THEIR OWN
PERFORMANCE. IT IS HELPING THEM TO LEARN RATHER THAN TEACHING THEM."

- TIMOTHY GALLWEY

The 5 most important considerations for a business owner when choosing a business coach

Here are some important considerations for business owners to keep in mind when choosing a business coach:

- 1. Relevant experience: Look for a coach who has experience in your industry or business size. They should have a deep understanding of the challenges that you face in your specific field, and have a track record of success in helping businesses like yours grow.
- 2. Coaching style: Consider what kind of coaching style works best for you. Some coaches are more hands-on and directive, while others are more collaborative and ask a lot of questions to help you arrive at your own solutions. Choose a coach whose style aligns with your personality and preferences.
- 3. Communication skills: A good coach should be an excellent communicator, both in terms of listening and speaking. They should be able to listen actively, ask the right questions, and provide clear and concise feedback. Look for a coach who communicates effectively and makes you feel heard.
- 4. Availability: It's important to choose a coach who is available when you need them. Make sure that they have a schedule that works with yours, and that they are willing to be flexible if unexpected issues arise. You should also consider the coach's location, as meeting in person may be important to you.
- 5. Compatibility: Last but not least, it's important to choose a coach whom you feel comfortable working with. Look for someone who shares your values, understands your goals, and whom you feel you can trust. A good coach should be a partner in your success, so choose someone whom you enjoy working with and who makes you feel motivated and inspired.
